

MATRONS ALREADY PICKING DATES FOR BALLS NEXT WINTER

Two Junior Assemblies Instead of Three Planned to Be Held First Fridays of December and February—Newport Filling Up and Planning to Receive Royalty

Now that the time for a general exodus from city homes is near, the matrons of society are busy with preparations for next season, when there is promise of great activity. For two winters there have been no dances organized, as there used to be, owing to the scarcity of dancing men, and only now and then has there been any attempt to give entertainments of that character. The exceptions were a few big balls given after the armistice was signed. While an impromptu dance generally goes off with verve and spirit, it is necessary to prepare for an important ball many months in advance, as there are so many details to be considered. Such preparation is absolutely required for the subscription dances, which for three or four years have been such an important part of the social curriculum, and these matters really have to be studied out with the greatest amount of care.

The most important of the subscription dances for next winter will be the Junior Assemblies, the outgrowth last season of the Junior Cotillions, the name of the series having been changed after Mrs. Arthur Murray Dodge had given up the management of the cotillions, which she assumed so effectively for a number of years. In former days the subscribers numbered about fifty, but for next year there will be about twice that number, as it will be necessary to take into consideration the debutantes of last season, some of the winter before and of course all of next winter's.

It has been decided to hold two of the assemblies in place of the three of other years, and as Sherry's is no more they are to be held at the Ritz-Carlton. These dances will be given on the first Fridays of December and February, and the committee for the coming season will include Mrs. Richard C. Colt, Mrs. Walter Phelps Bliss, Mrs. Joseph W. Burden, Mrs. James Hynes, Mrs. Walter B. James, Mrs. Herbert L. Pratt, Mrs. James Gore King and Mrs. Herbert Livingston Satterlee. It will be some time before the list of subscribers is completed.

The Metropolitan Dances and the Colony Dances for girls who have not been formally introduced to society will be continued. They never were interrupted, as the subscribers have been students at boarding and preparatory schools, who were little affected by the war conditions. These two sets of dances are always given during the Christmas and Easter holidays. It is expected that there will be more than seventy debutantes of note in New York next season. In addition to the subscription dances, some private balls will be given, the dates to be decided upon by September.

If, as rumor has it, Newport will be visited in August by the persons of Englishmen of rank, then there will be a brilliant season, and the place will be crowded as well for the important events like lawn tennis tournaments and the annual horse show, these two summer fixtures to be held at the attractive grounds of the Newport Casino, which has been open to subscribers for more than a month. This beautiful city by the sea is beginning to fill up, though there has been thus far no particular sign of social activity. Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. G. Taylor, who have been at their villa on the cliffs, which is in Annapolis, have given some dinners, and Mrs. Ogden Goelet has arrived at Ochre Court. Mrs. Luther Kountze did not go to Delbarton, her country place in Morristown, N. J., making an early start for Newport, where she now is, in the Cramp Villa, Sunny Lea, in Bellevue avenue, near Sherry's, the villa of Mrs. Penelope Jones, who also is there. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel are at Fairholme at Ochre Court, and not far from them are Mr. and Mrs. T. Suffer Tailor at Honeyuckle Lodge.

Just at this time of year Newport is at its best and there is opportunity to lead a comparatively simple life and for enjoyment of the comfortable and handsome homes. The former Ambassador from Russia and Mme. George Bakmeteff will again have Stone Villa, the James Gordon Bennett place in the city, which they have occupied from time to time for ten years. Mrs. Howard G. Cushing has arrived at the Ledges, but owing to mourning will not take part in the season's gaieties. Mr. and Mrs. George Peabody Wetmore are at Chateau-sur-Mer, which is in the village of Rhode Island and Mrs. R. Livingston Beckman are at Land's End, which is at the end of the famous Cliff Walk and near Bailey's Beach. Mr. John Nicholas Brown has decided not to pass with her son, John Nicholas Brown, will go to Japan. Mr. and Mrs. R. Horace Gallatin and her mother, Mrs. Fordham Morris, are at Chapotow in Narragansett avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James have been for some time at Beacon Hill House, having arrived in Newport on the Aloha, their steam yacht. Former Gov. Charles S. Whitman and Mrs. Whitman soon will be at their place on Price's Neck and have been for several days with Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Duncan at Bonnie Crest.
